Who is NLP Master Practitioner training for?

This training is for anyone who has completed NLP Practitioner certification training. It's for you if you want to deepen and extend your competency in NLP.

During the training you will learn to model excellence. You will learn how to identify a model, how to instruct your unconscious to acquire the model's skills, and then how to create an explicit and transferable description of the skill you have modelled.

You will also learn advanced language patterns and advanced change processes. You will also be able to explore, model, and re-design your self-concept and learn how to choose and maintain your state under pressure.

This will make it possible for you to perform confidently in a wider, range of contexts, learn by modelling, work more effectively with yourself and others, create your own NLP processes and incorporate your learning into your life.
